THE PORT OF OREGON

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 11, 1926

FARMER SPEARS ARREST

Portland, Nov. 10, 1926.
The arrest of a farmer, "Fred" Kachaga, for the murder of his wife, is the latest in a series of cases in which the justice system has been called upon to deal with the problem of domestic violence. The case of Kachaga is particularly notable because of the circumstances surrounding the crime and the subsequent investigation.

A WOLF FOR OREGON PRODUCE

Portland, Nov. 10, 1926.
The Oregon produce market is being threatened by a "wolf" in the form of a large-scale operation to import cheap produce from the West Coast. This operation, if successful, would result in a significant loss of revenue for local producers and could have a detrimental effect on the local economy.

FOR PROHIBITION LAWS

Portland, Nov. 10, 1926.
The Oregon state legislature is expected to pass a series of laws designed to strengthen the state's prohibition laws. These laws are intended to prevent the sale and consumption of alcohol in public places and to increase the penalties for those who violate the law.

OUTGOING PASSENGERS

The Oregon coast is expected to see a large number of outgoing passengers in the coming weeks. This is due to the fact that many of the local residents are planning to spend the winter months in warmer climates.

TRADE AND COMMERCE

Tuesday, Nov. 9

Overland receipts to-day were quite large, and in extent and variety exceed those of any previous day. They include 100 car loads, 2500 bales of wool, 1000 tons of coal, and a large quantity of other goods.

WHEAT

The principal feature of the day is a decline in wheat prices. This is due to the fact that the market is oversupplied with wheat, and the price has fallen accordingly.

WHEAT

The wheat market is expected to remain weak in the coming weeks. This is due to the fact that the supply of wheat is still large, and the price is expected to continue to fall.
